Amariah Portrays Experiences

School, like life, is composed of a variety of experiences, which we have portrayed in the 1968 Amariah. Here, then, is your record of your experiences.

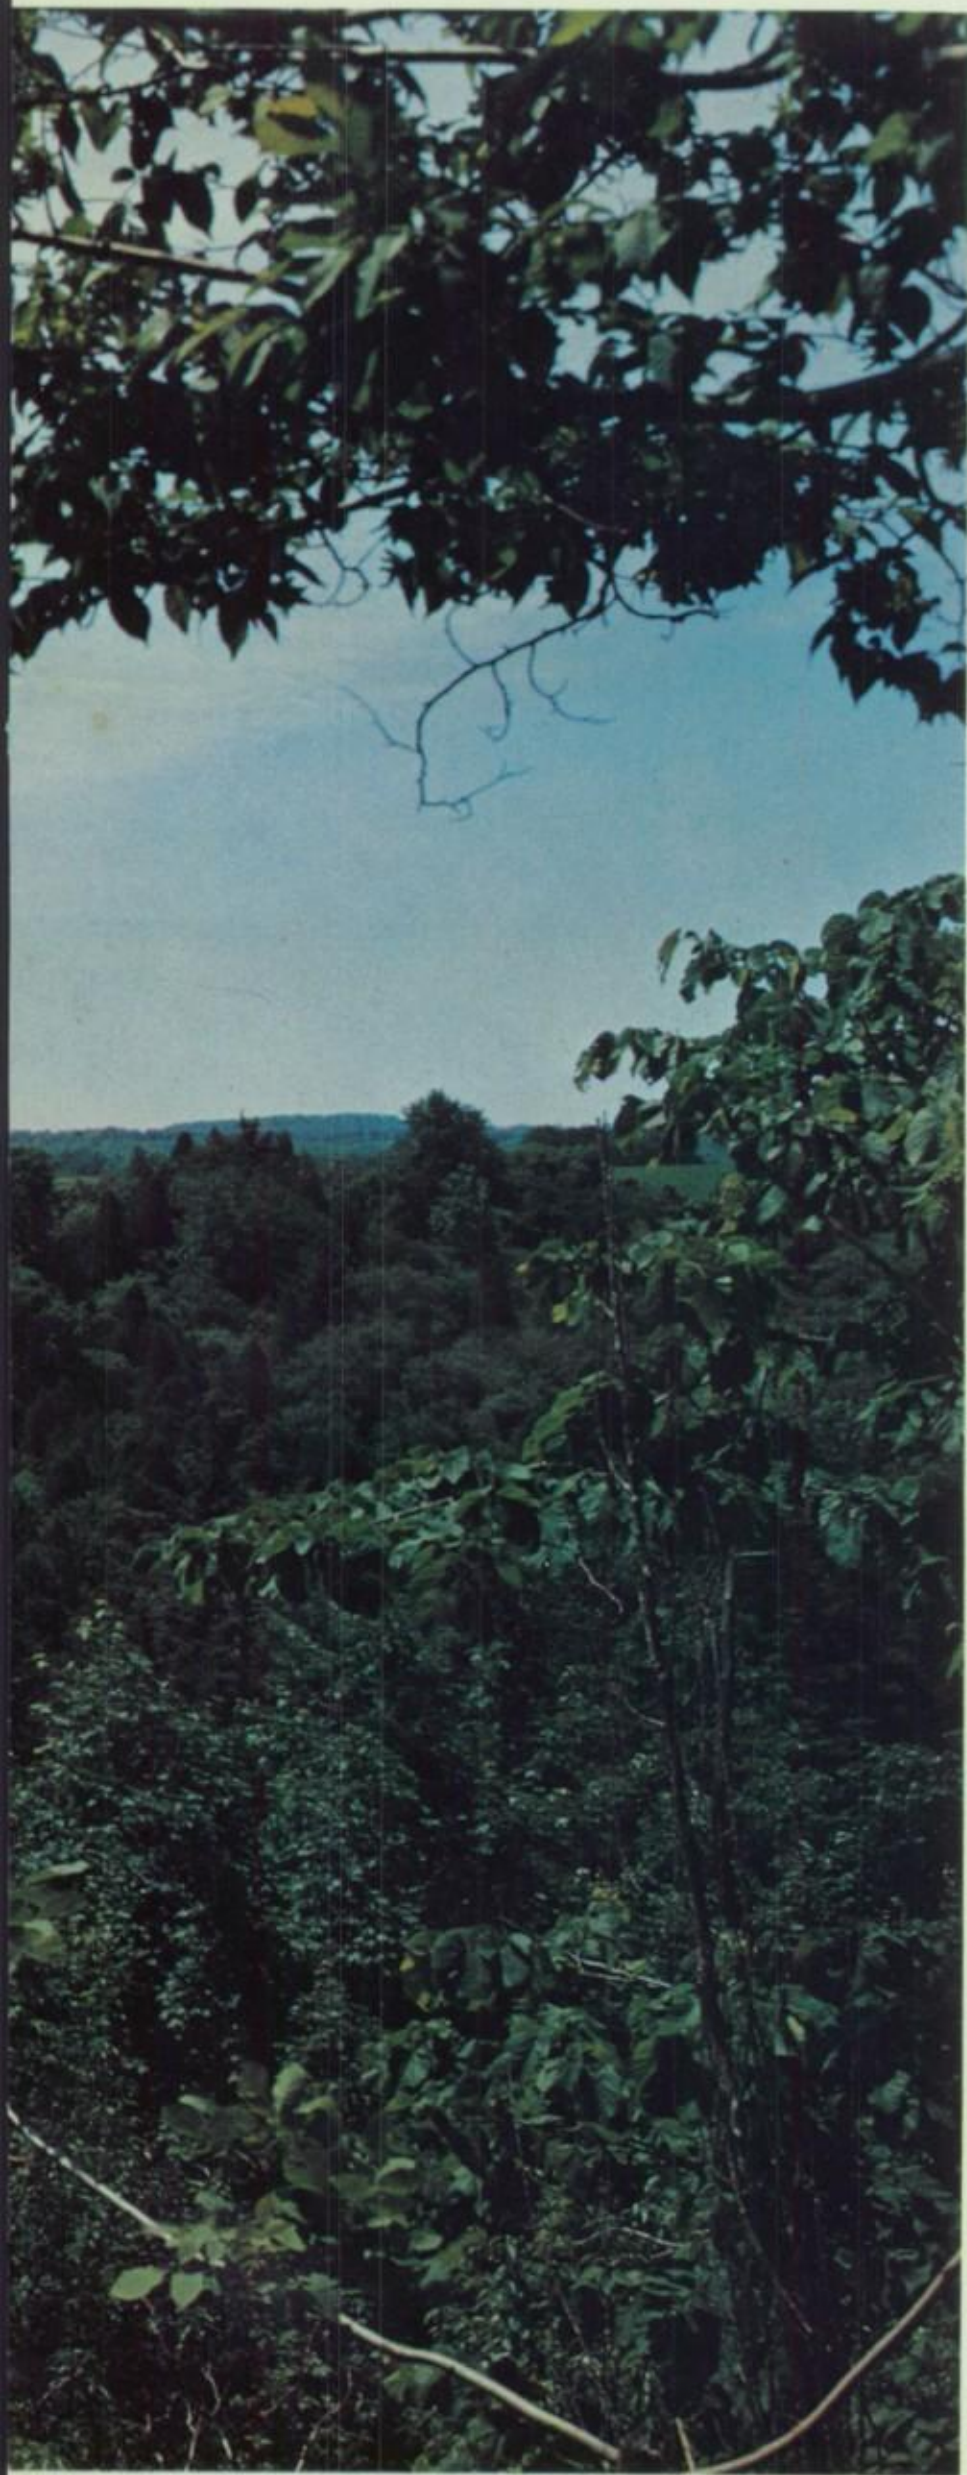

A bell rings, and interrupts her teaching. There is so much to say, and so little time. She gives us so much—she puts everything into her teaching. We need Mrs. Kistler, and we are glad she is here.

We will have room to grow in the New school.

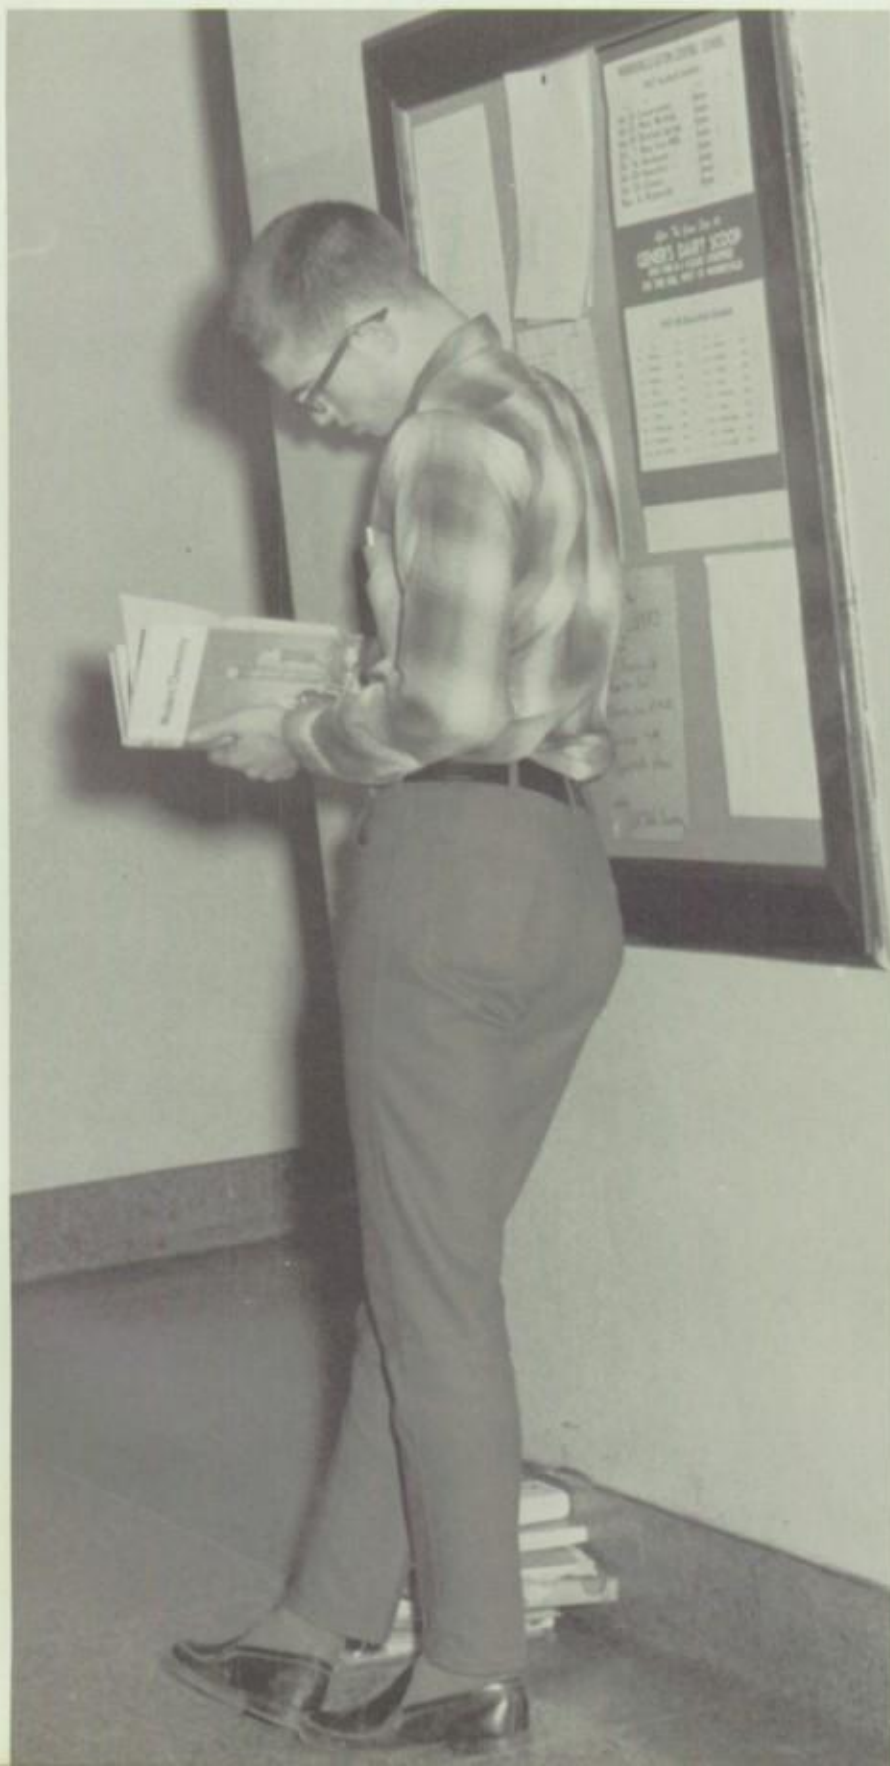

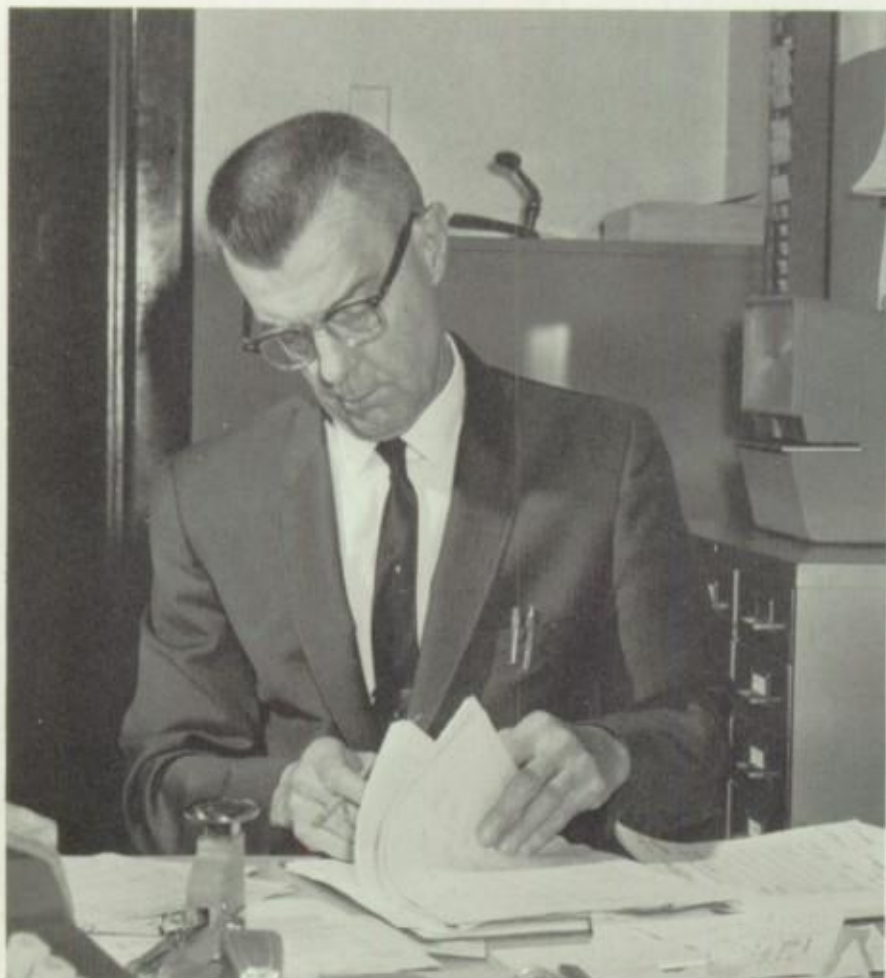

Administration And Staff

Admin. and Staff Plan Move

Problems involved in the exciting move to the new school occupied the Morrisville-Eaton administration and staff during 1967-8. New bus schedules, orientation of faculty and students, room and cafeteria schedules, moving equipment and furnishings and landscaping are some of the problems which have been faced.

High school principal, Mr. Dan Nickel, has this to say about the new school, "Both the faculty and students have been working well under trying conditions. Through the interest in education of the taxpayers and school board, we are being provided with a new building which will enable us to give quality education."

Mr. R. Harry Lyndon, school district clerk.

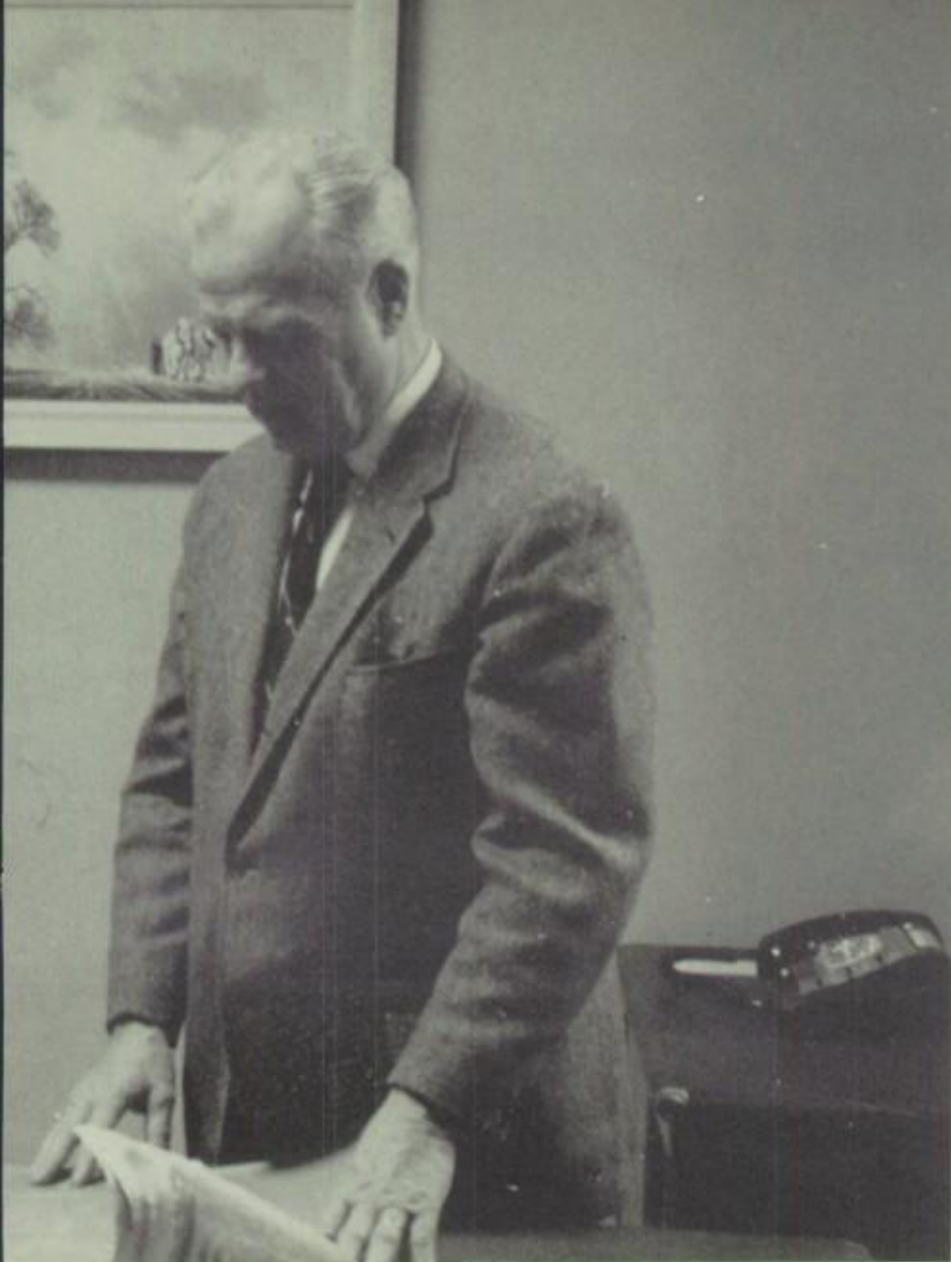

Mr. Dan Nickel, Jr.-Sr. high school principal.

Mrs. Gerald Kelly, guidance typist. Mr. George Silknetter, guidance director.

Mrs. DeForest Cramer, typist; Mrs. Ray Sherburne, typist.

Mr. Edward Andrews, supervising principal.

Mrs. Esther Suits, typist.

Shorthand Lab Initiated

The business department initiated shorthand labs this year to better prepare students for going out into the business world. Shorthand II students learned transcription and dictation during their lab period, which was held three times a week. In the new school, there is a shorthand lab which will help students who learn at a slower rate. One good feature of the new lab is that the equipment is permanent; in the old building, it had to be moved from room to room.

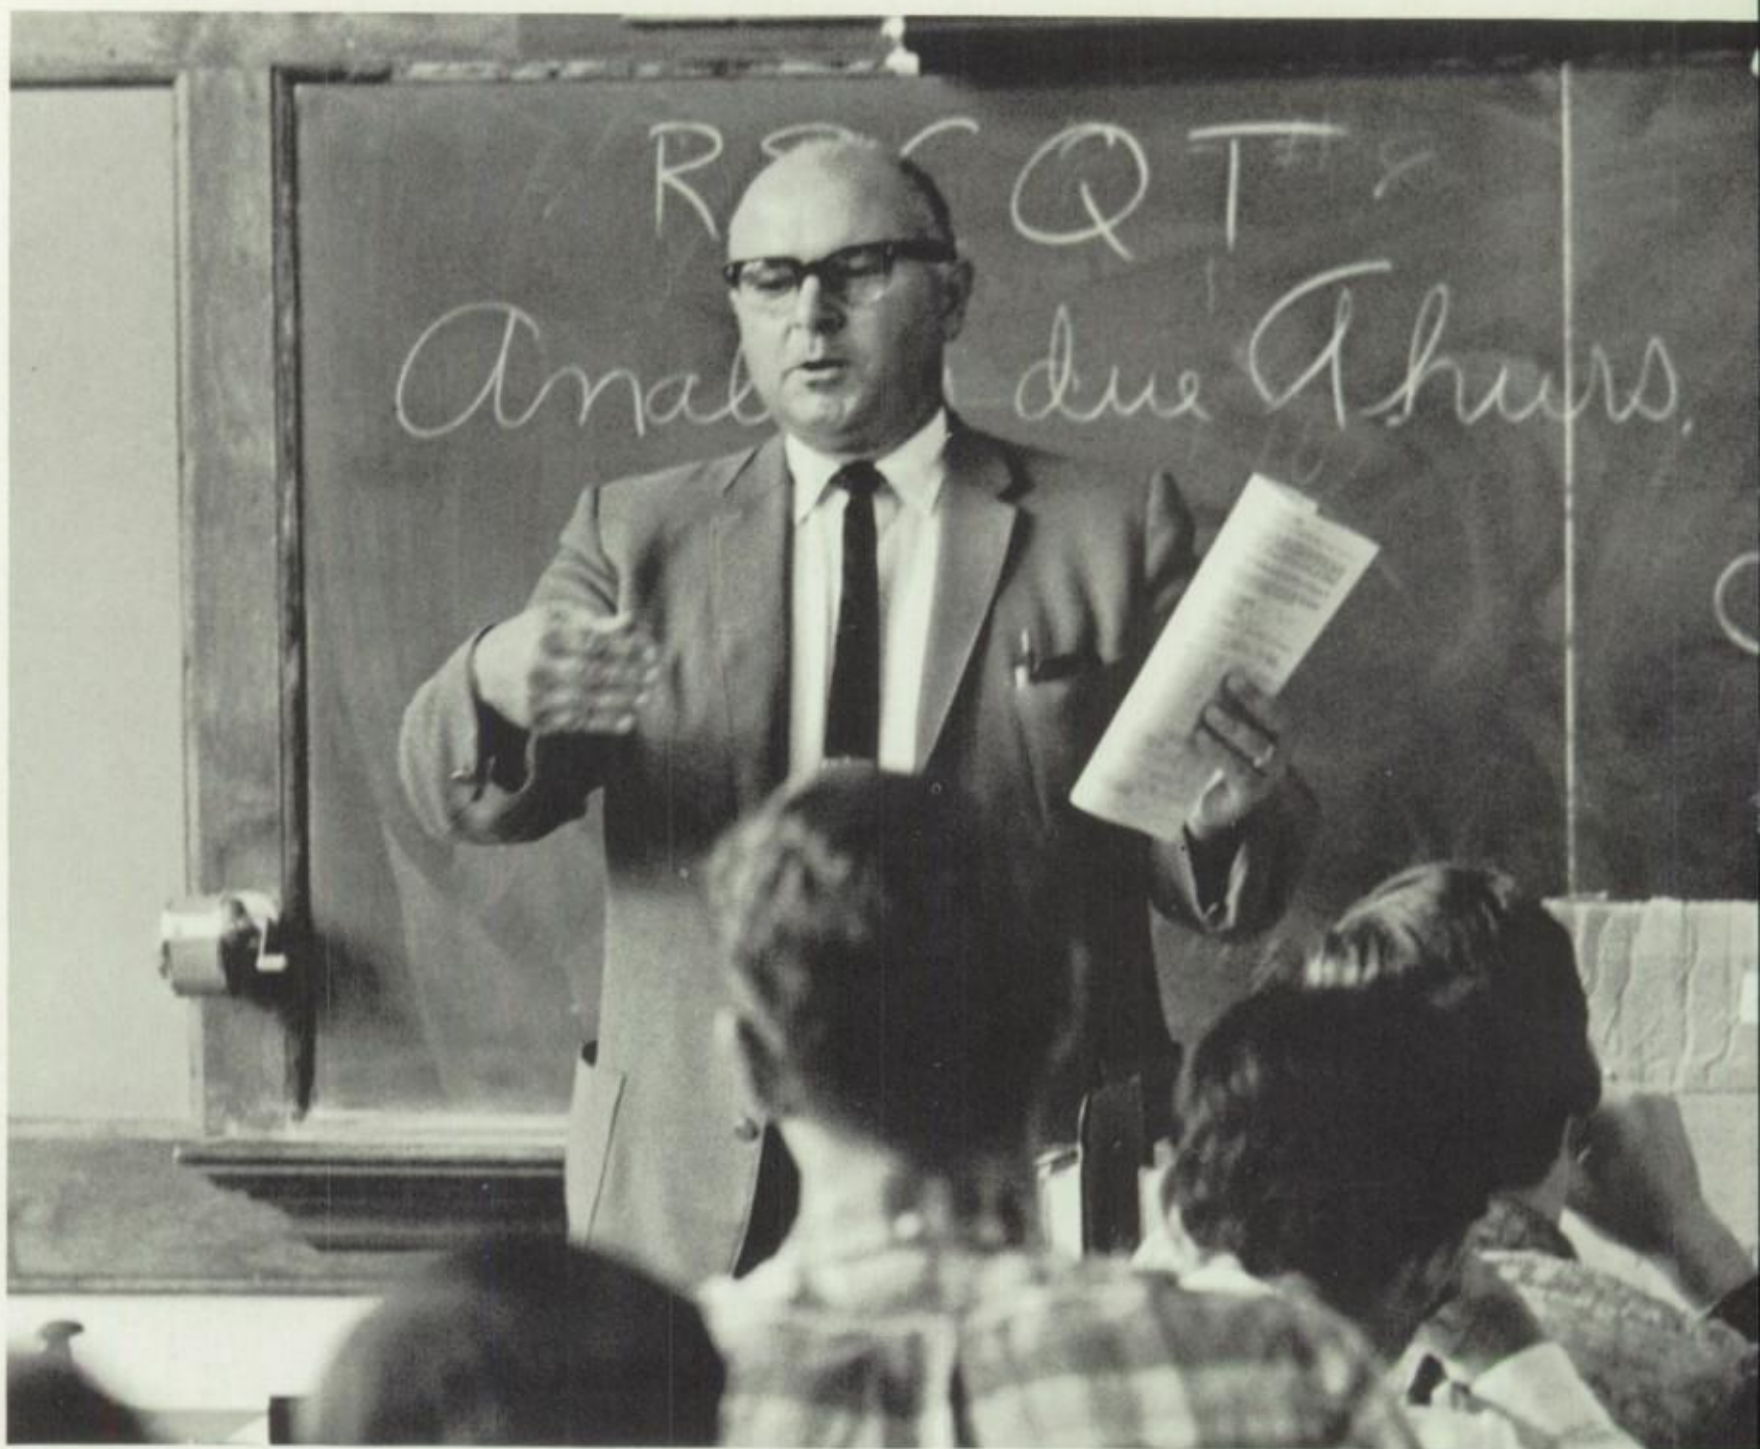

Typing is a practical course for anyone to take.

Beginning typists concentrate on learning basic skills.

Bookkeeping is a valuable course for those interested in public accounting.

Mr. Silknetter explains the details of the Regents Scholarship examination.

A recruiter discusses a career in the Air Force.

Mrs. Kelly is interested in John's college plans.

The finger dexterity test helps students determine their capabilities as they relate to job requirements.

Mr. Robert McKinnon answers questions about MATC's admission criteria.

Guidance Aids in Postgraduate Plans

Getting M.E.C.S. seniors headed in the right direction with respect to postgraduate plans has kept guidance counselor Mr. George T. Silknetter and Mrs. Gerald Kelly, his secretary, busy this year. New equipment to help college bound students includes a college selection computer and film strips and records on various colleges. Representatives from colleges, including MATC and Oswego State, also helped students choose a college to fit their needs. Other information to seniors was provided by visiting recruiters from the armed forces, who came to talk to juniors and senior boys. For seniors whose postgraduate plans were uncertain, the General Aptitude Test Battery was given to assess student capability in fields of employment and aid in job placement.

Music

Busy Year for Music Department

The music department started more people on the preband instrument, the tonette. The purpose of this is to give an idea of those that would have talent enough to go on to a more difficult instrument. Also this year violin lessons have been given in the Eaton and Peterboro schools. Some of these players will later transfer to viola or cello.

A stage band was added and performed at the Spring concert.

Orchestra Performs in New Auditorium

The orchestra presented its Christmas and spring concerts this year, as in the past. The spring concert was a first—instead of performing in the gymnasium of the old school, the orchestra had the pleasure of performing in the new auditorium.

Debbie Hildreth presented Morrisville-Eaton in the All State Sectional Orchestra, which was held in November at Mohawk Central School.

Senior Band, bottom row: G. Johnston, P. Chaphe, R. Kelly, C. Clark, B. Linge, D. Stewart, J. Roher, R. Stevenson, J. Omerso, C. Bryant, J. Corpin, G. Cring, G. Flanders, W. Mockovak. Row two: R. Chorus Works Harder

Under the direction of Mrs. Louise Bennett, a new teacher at M.F.C.S., the chorus sang several selections in the annual Christmas and spring concerts. This year the rehearsal time was during the noon hour four days a week which meant shorter daily practice and harder work on the part of the members.

Girls' Ensemble Harmonizes

The girls' ensemble harmonised in the Christmas and spring concerts, some of them singing bass parts. Also under Mrs. Bennett's direction, one of their handicaps was their short rehearsal time—during Friday noon hour.

Warriors Play Winless Season

The Crimson Warriors wound up their football season with a winless record of 0-8.

The Morrisville Warriors played their best ball game on September 30, against Richfield Springs, losing 6-15. Other highly contested games were played against Sherburne, Waterville, and our traditional rival, Hamilton.

Even though the opening kickoff was returned for a Hamilton Emerald touchdown, the Warriors fought back with tremendous effort and held their ground through the first half of play, leaving the field only eight points behind. Hopes were high in the locker room and on the field in the anticipation that the little brown jug might rest in the Morrisville trophy case once again. But through a series of costly errors, Hamilton emerged the victor.

Fair Season for Hockey Teams

Two wins, two losses and a disappointing tie against Hamilton were the results of the first hockey team's season of play. In October, the girls rode all the way to Cooperstown only to face defeat. However, the game was disputed because of a lack of qualified referees. If it had interfered with our winning of the championship, it would have been played over.

Varsity Warriors Hustle

The M.E.C.S. Warriors have experienced a season of ups and downs. Playing with a young team, the varsity cagers have fallen victim to their inexperience on many occasions. However, they have displayed a hustling brand of ball parlaying a fast break and multiple pressing defenses into points.

The boys have been led in scoring by John Stewart and Tom Deveny, while Phil Pugh, Terry Wilcox, Kelly Ernst, Chuck Waters, and Carl Key have contributed strong rebounding and defensive efforts. With a strong returning nucleus and help from a fine J.V. team, the Warriors already look forward to a more successful campaign next year.

J.V.'s Enjoy Fine Season

Currently enjoying their finest season in Center State Conference basketball, the not so "little Warriors" are in second place having posted an 11-3 record to date, and are looking forward to defeating their remaining opponents.

Leading the squad in scoring have been Mike Ernst, Phil Ames, and Carl Cramphin. Owen Corpin, Dan Resnick, and Dan Herring have turned in consistently fine defensive efforts and have also shown good scoring punch. Contributing heavily in reserve roles have been Bob Roher, Paul Matthias, Jim Jenks, Bill Hurley, and Randy Hedger.

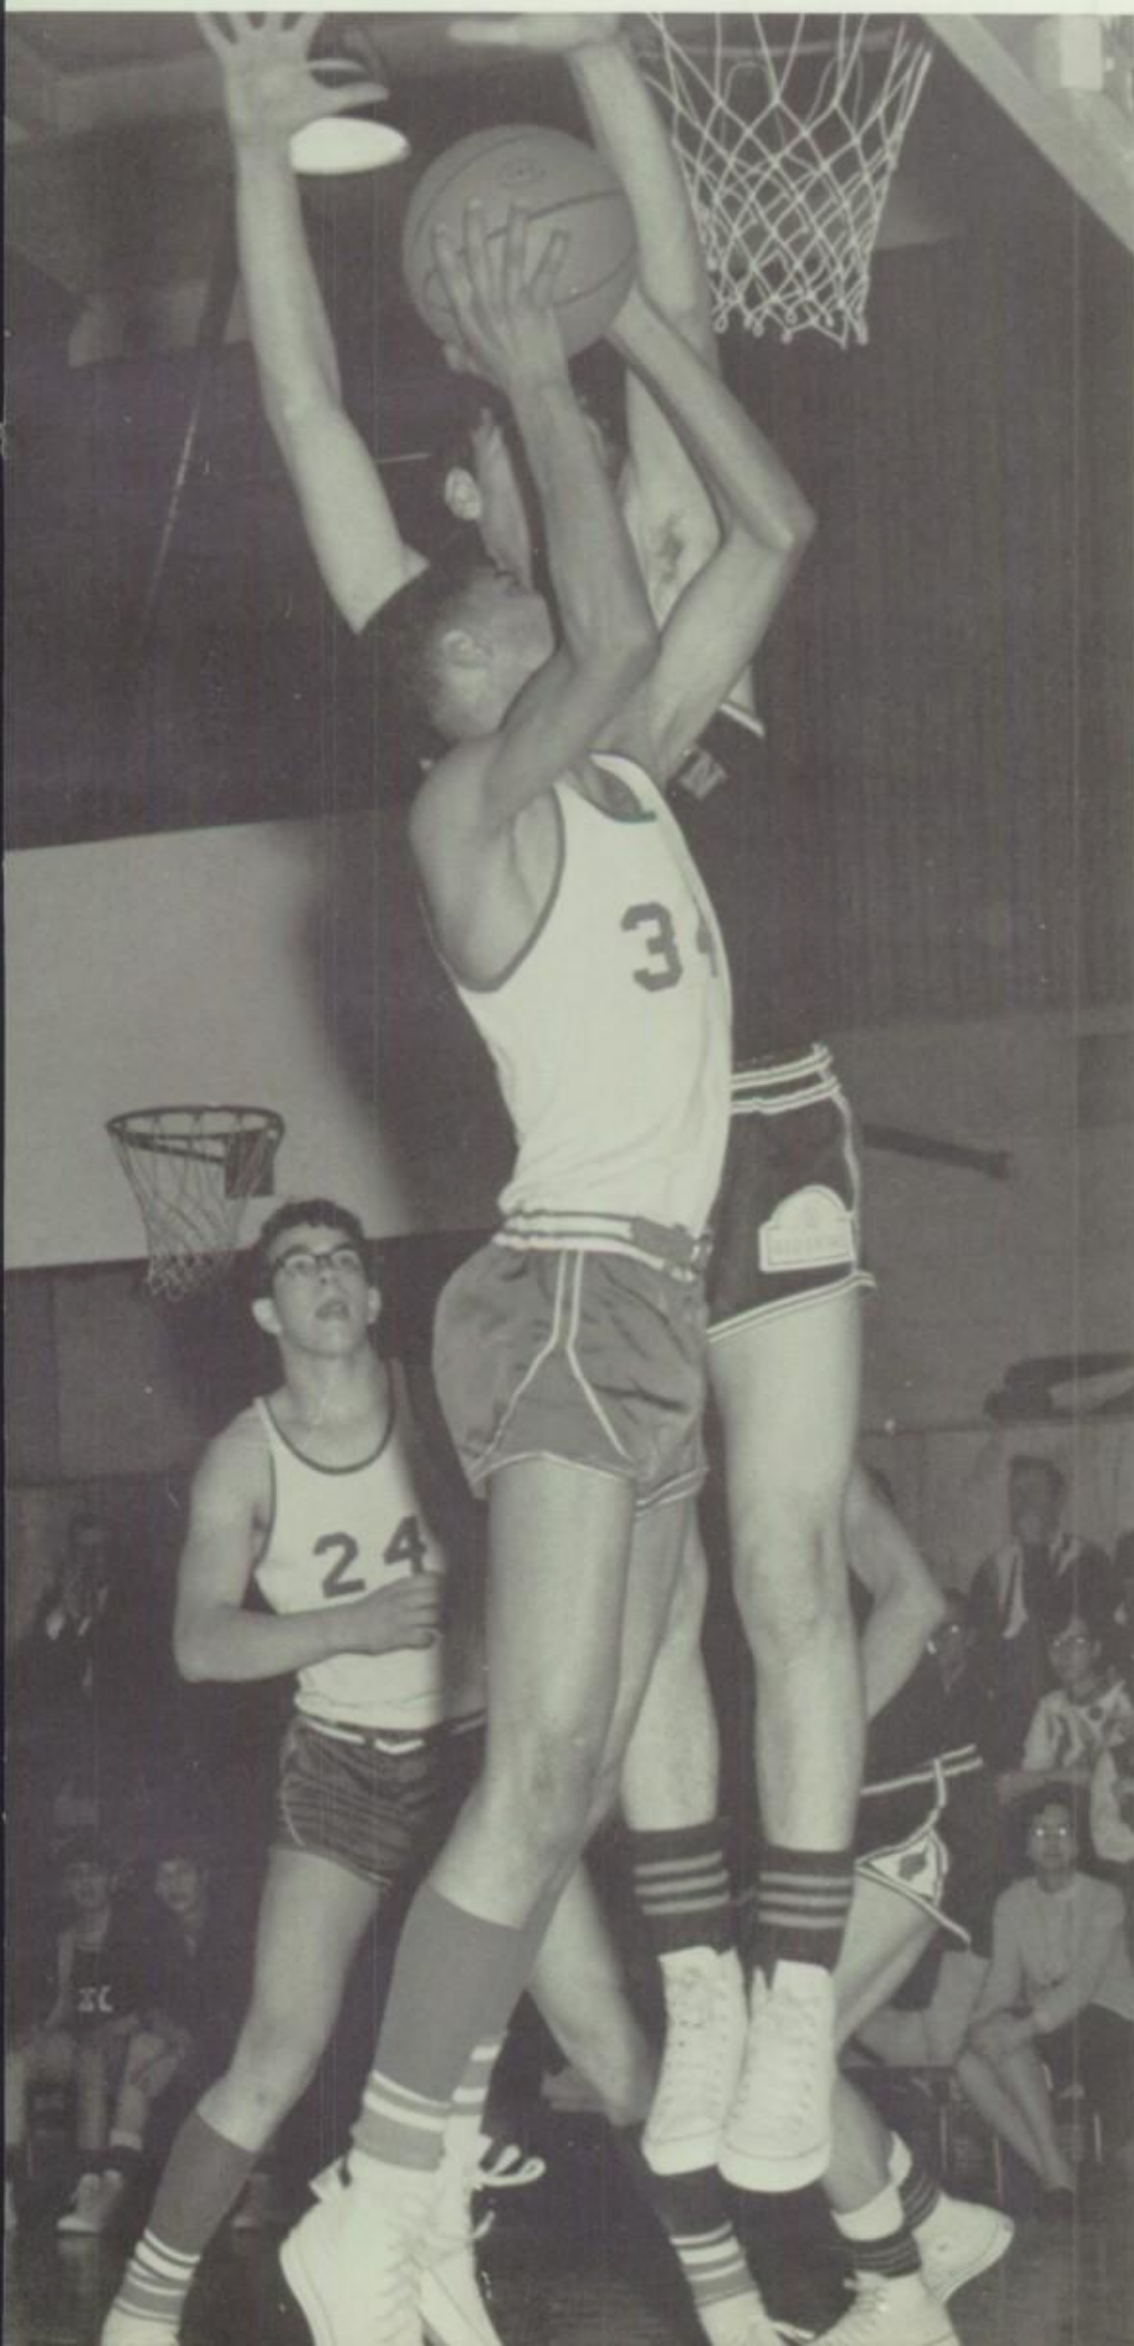

Not to be overlooked are freshmen John Payne, Dennis DeGroat, John Richmond, Glenn Brown, Murry Ames, and Doug Johnston, who, though seeing limited J.V. action, have compiled an undefeated freshman record through six games.

First Team Loses Championship by 1 Point

The girl's basketball team lost the league championship this year by one point in a game against rival team, Hamilton.

They placed first in the tournament hosted by Morrisville in which seven teams from central New York participated. This enabled them to go on the following week to Chittemango to a much larger tournament. The girls placed fourth.

Averaging 47 points a game, the girls had an overall good season.

Wrestling Team Introduced at M-E

The first wrestling team at Morrisville-Eaton was organized under the supervision of Coach Masera. At the start of the season there were twelve boys going out, ranging from the 103 pound class to the 156 pound class.

The grapplers had two meets with Madison, winning one by a score of 21-0; the next match ended in a 10-10 tie.

Council Improves Student Body Relations

The student council stressed as its goal this year the improvement of council-student body relations. To carry out this theme, the council tried to perform for the students, to increase student interest in student government, and to inspire school spirit and pride. The beautification plan for the new school was continued this year, as well as the spirited spectator contest. Other activities, such as dances after home basketball games were begun by the council.

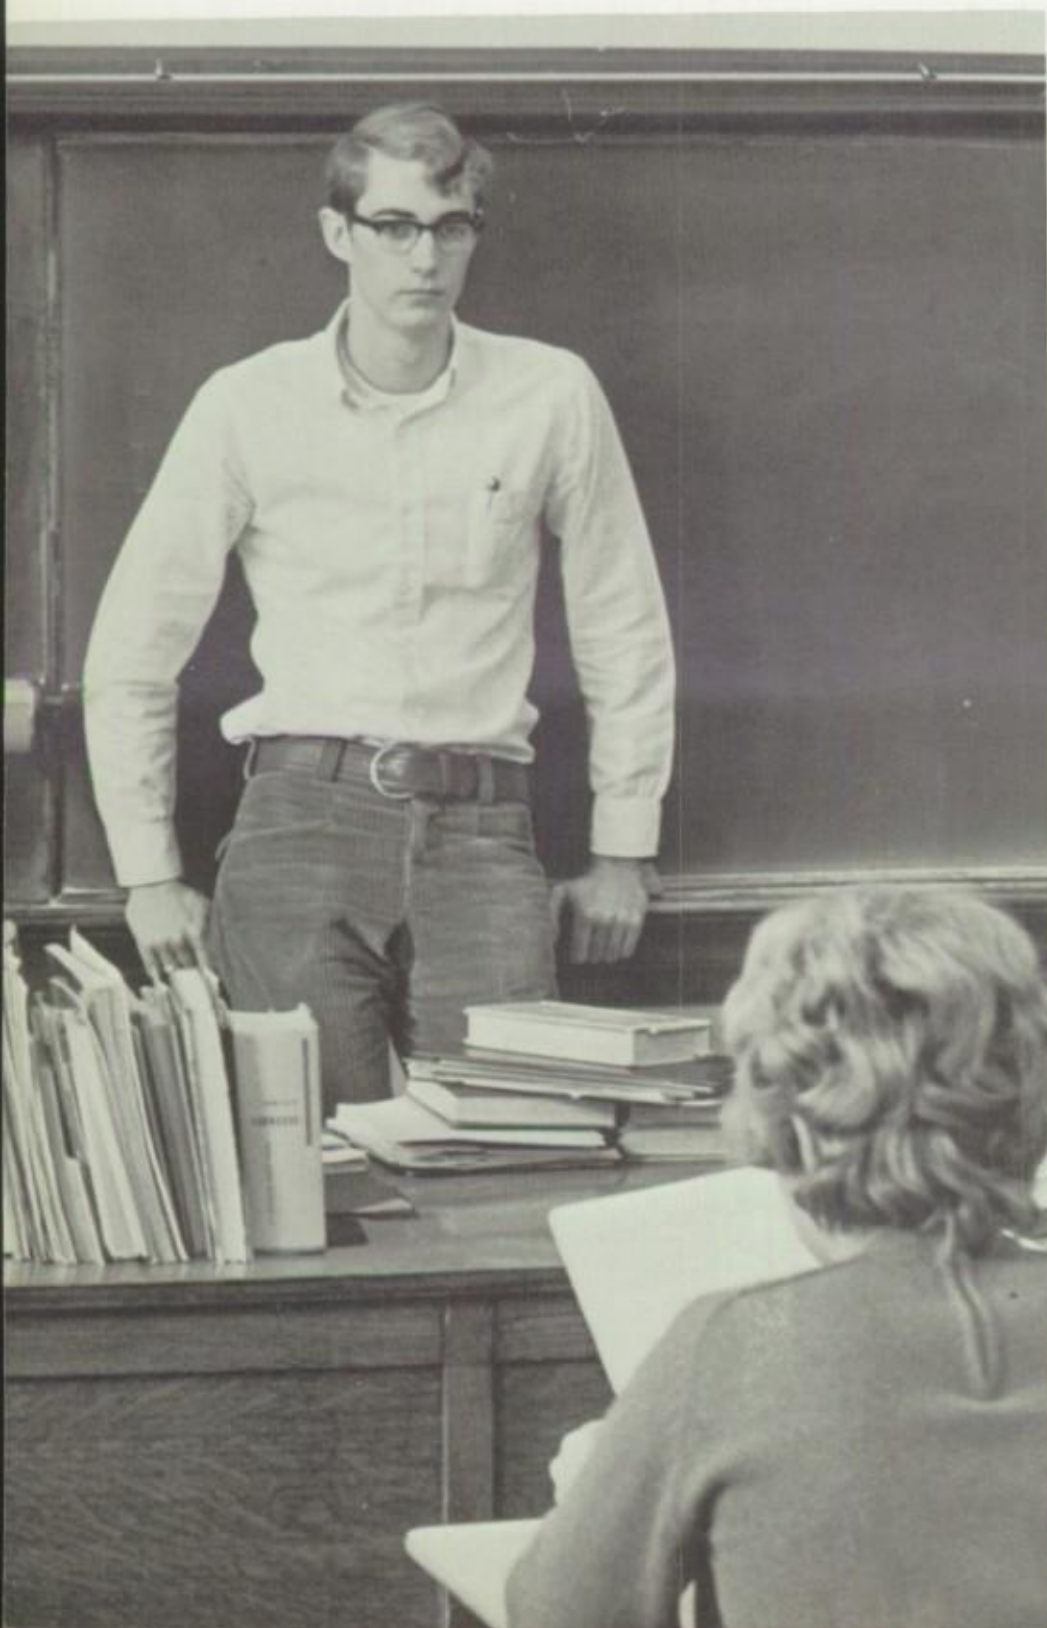

Two major changes made this year were the renovation of the student council's representation system and the formation of a mediating board to aid in student-administration disputes. This year's student council also reached a new understanding with the administration, and through what might be described as negotiation, agreed to accept more responsibility in return for the privileges granted.

Jr. High Honor Society Planned

Earning money for the foreign exchange student fund and organizing a junior high honor society were the main activities of the honor society. Noon hour bake sales proved successful activities for the society. The group felt that a junior high organization would not only encourage scholarship, but would prepare students for entry into the senior high society. It is hoped that the junior high honor society will be initiated next year.

G.A.A. Earns Money for Projects

The girls athletic association worked hard to earn money for their annual Thanksgiving and Christmas projects. The girls were able to donate more Thanksgiving baskets than in previous years. Forty-eight children attended the Christmas party, and their delight at seeing Santa and receiving gifts made the G.A.A. members happy to be sponsoring such a worthwhile activity.

By selling food at home games, the G.A.A. earns money for charity.

Varsity Club Writes New Constitution

Because the administration did not approve of the varsity club's initiation procedures, the boys had to write a new constitution. Several boys with varsity letters were initiated this year under the articles of the revised constitution. They had to pass the Marine Corps physical fitness test and be accepted by the membership.

The Future Nurses' Club and the business club were re-chartered this year. Both groups explore career possibilities. The nurses' club, advised by school nurse teacher, Mrs. Carter, take field trips to hospitals and see movies dealing with jobs in nursing. They also help the community by making cancer dressings. Mrs. Nelson helps the business club learn about jobs available in the business field. The faculty has welcomed their typing and duplication services.

Smoke Signals Accomplishes Much

Under the direction of editor-in-chief, Nancy Orth, and co-editor, Maggie Resnick, much was accomplished. New columns were added and the Smoke Signals, which was published monthly, contained news of all the schools activities. An editorial page created added interest.

'68 Amariah Has New Look

Mosaic layouts, the photo essay, minimum use of capital letters and dominant action photographs gave a new look to the 1968 Amariah. The staff wanted to form, with the yearbook as their medium, a unique picture of our school. With the help of Mr. Don Hunt, a photographer from Varden Studios, they were able to pursue a variety of experiences. The photographs that resulted formed the backbone of the book—many were used in the photo essays, which were designed to keep the entire book exciting. A change from the matte finish paper to glossy paper was made because the editors felt that, because of the higher reproductive quality of the glossy paper, it was better suited for the mosaic layouts and dramatic candid photographs.

Archibald MacLeish said, "A poem should be palpable and mute, as a globed fruit." This should also be true of a yearbook. Enjoy the Amariah, and let it be a globed fruit.

Carlos Velez Visits M-E

Carlos Eduardo Velez, fifteen, of Medellin, Columbia, was Morrisville-Eaton's foreign exchange student. He stayed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Deveny, whose son Tom went to Peru as a foreign student last summer.

Medellin is known as the city of eternal spring, and Carlos had not seen snow until he arrived here. He enjoyed it but did not care for the sub-zero temperatures.

Because he attended a boys' private school in Colombia, Carlos found the presence of girls in his classes a new and enjoyable experience. He also liked the other aspects of school, including basketball games, dances and student government.

Teaching junior English is an enjoyable task for Mrs. Johnson.

English Teachers Stress Reading, Writing

English compares with football or baseball—after you learn the rules it is easier and more enjoyable to play. Rules that English students must learn are how to write correctly and to read comprehensively. Correct use of vocabulary and the attacking of novels, short stories, poems, plays and research papers help teach students these two main blocks. But most teachers at Morrisville want more than this; they want their students to find the enjoyment of reading and writing which will help them the rest of their lives.

Freshman English class can be a place for insights into literature.

Making a point about RETURN of the NATIVE, Mrs. Kistler takes her usual position.

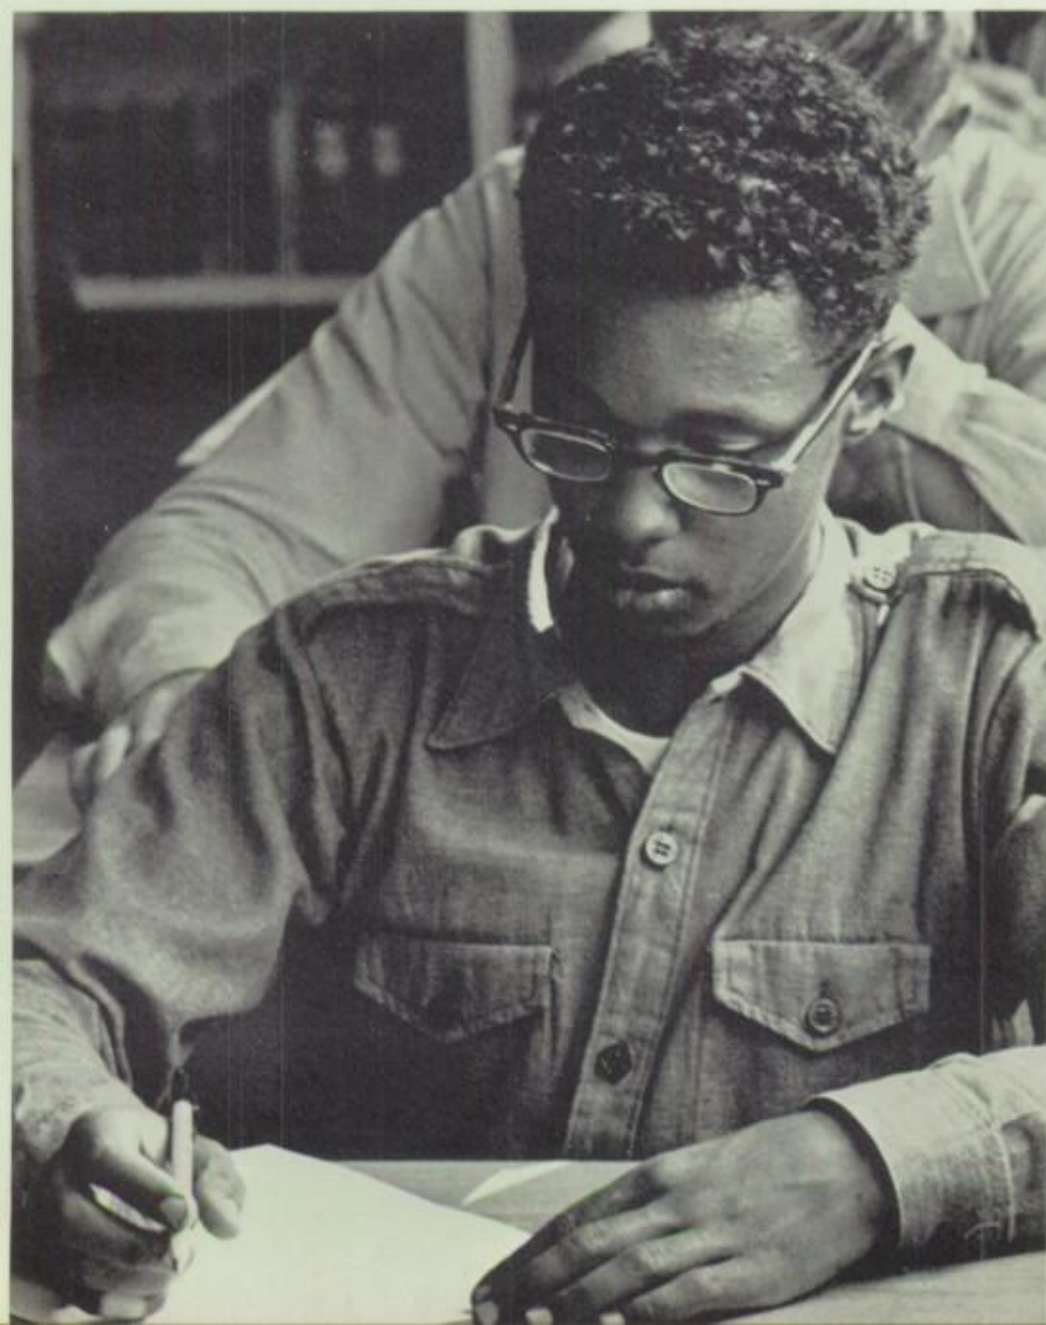

Attentive students show that this is probably an interesting class.

Mr. North lectures on the Roman Empire.

Betsy Lingo meditates during class.

Russel Corpin takes history notes.

Current Events Are Learned in History

History students were encouraged to keep aware of current events as well as to learn past events. With this idea in mind, many discussions were held in world history on the 50th anniversary of the Russian Revolution. More outside reading in present world affairs was assigned.

Mr. William O'Brien introduced the inquiry method, which is an attempt to bring knowledge out of the Class, with the idea that the knowledge will be more meaningful if it comes from the students.

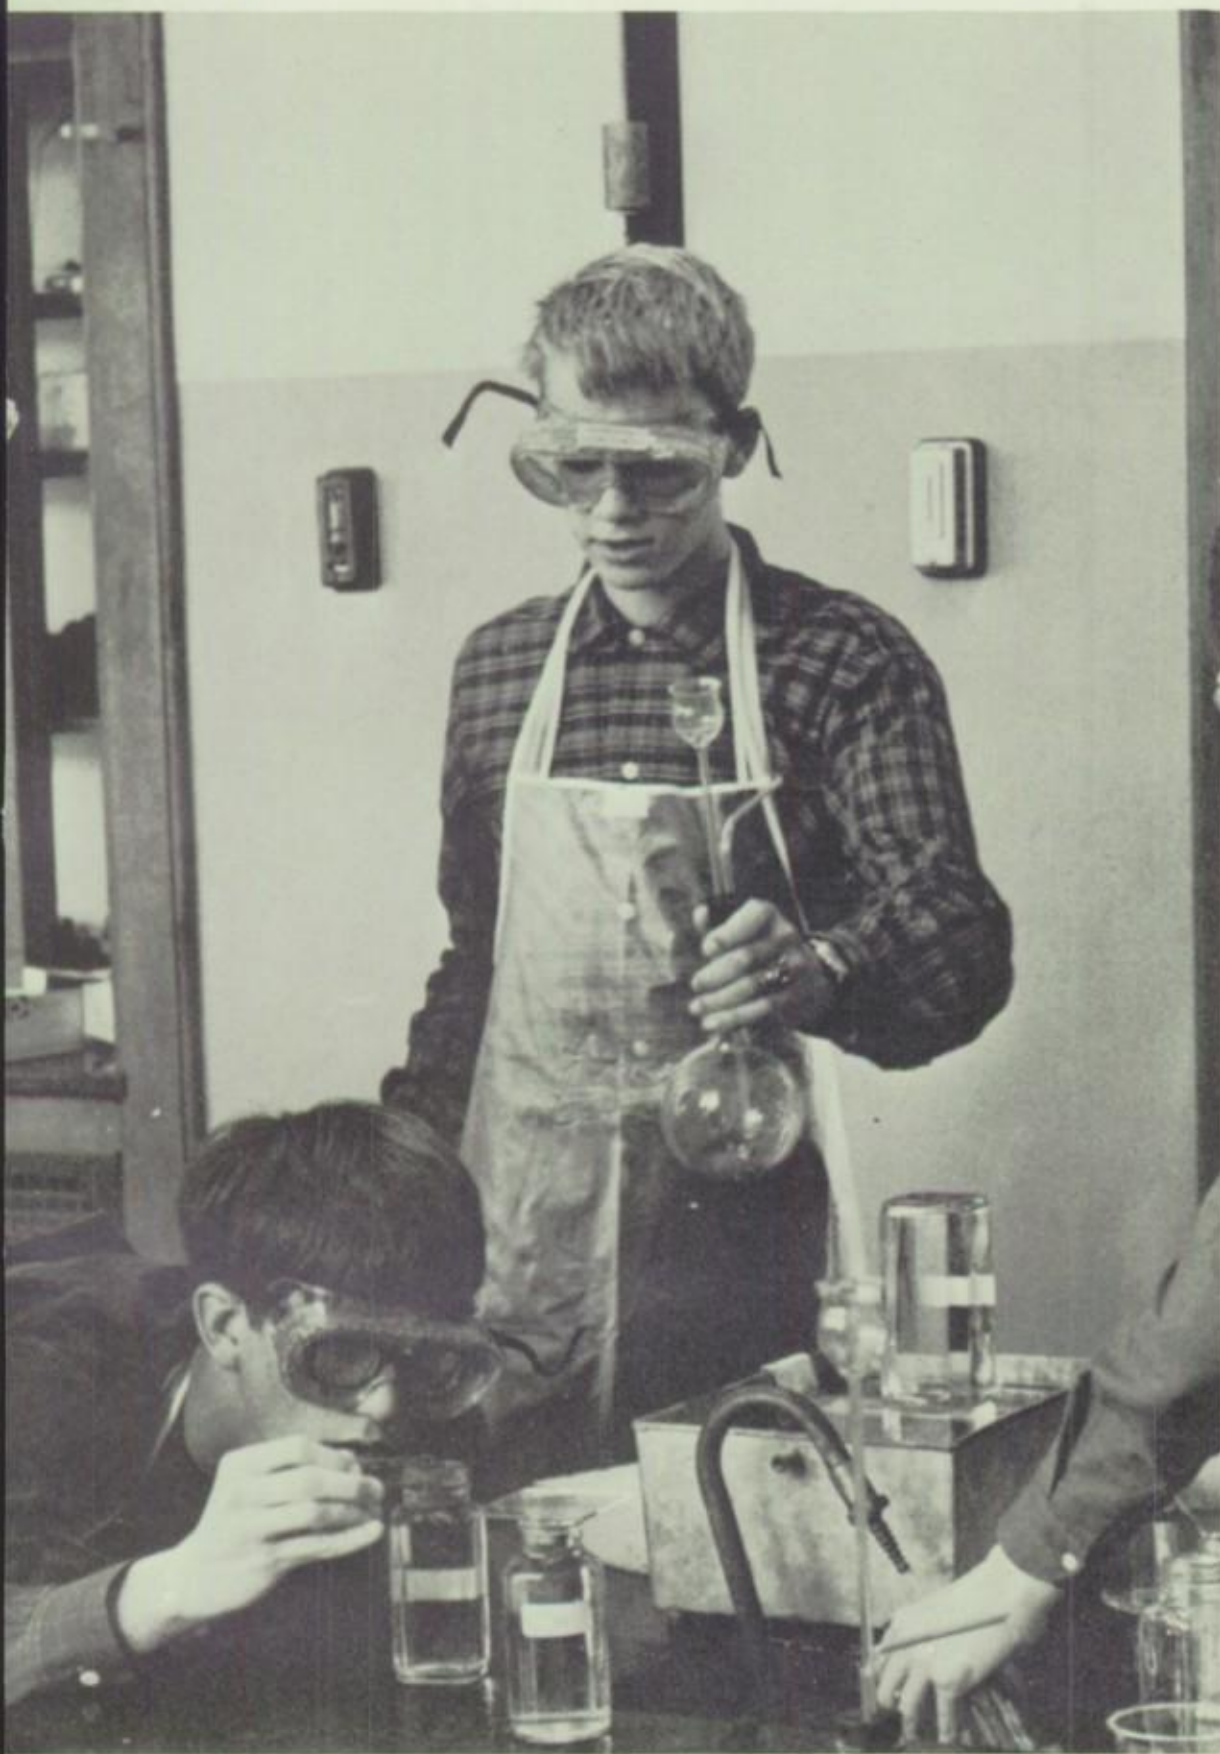

Looking at slides under microscopes helps biology students learn about cells.

Physics students, right, take measurements to verify a moments problem.

New Labs Help Students

Badly needed new laboratories and a reorganization of the New York State Syllabus for physics and chemistry constitute the major changes in the science department. A multi-purpose laboratory room, used for physics and chemistry, more storage rooms and an exhaust hood are welcomed by department head, Mr. Donald Palmer. In the syllabus, greater emphasis is being placed on theory and on lab work testing the theory.

Chemistry students collect bottles of carbon dioxide gas.

Working on a car is practical experience gained in the shop.

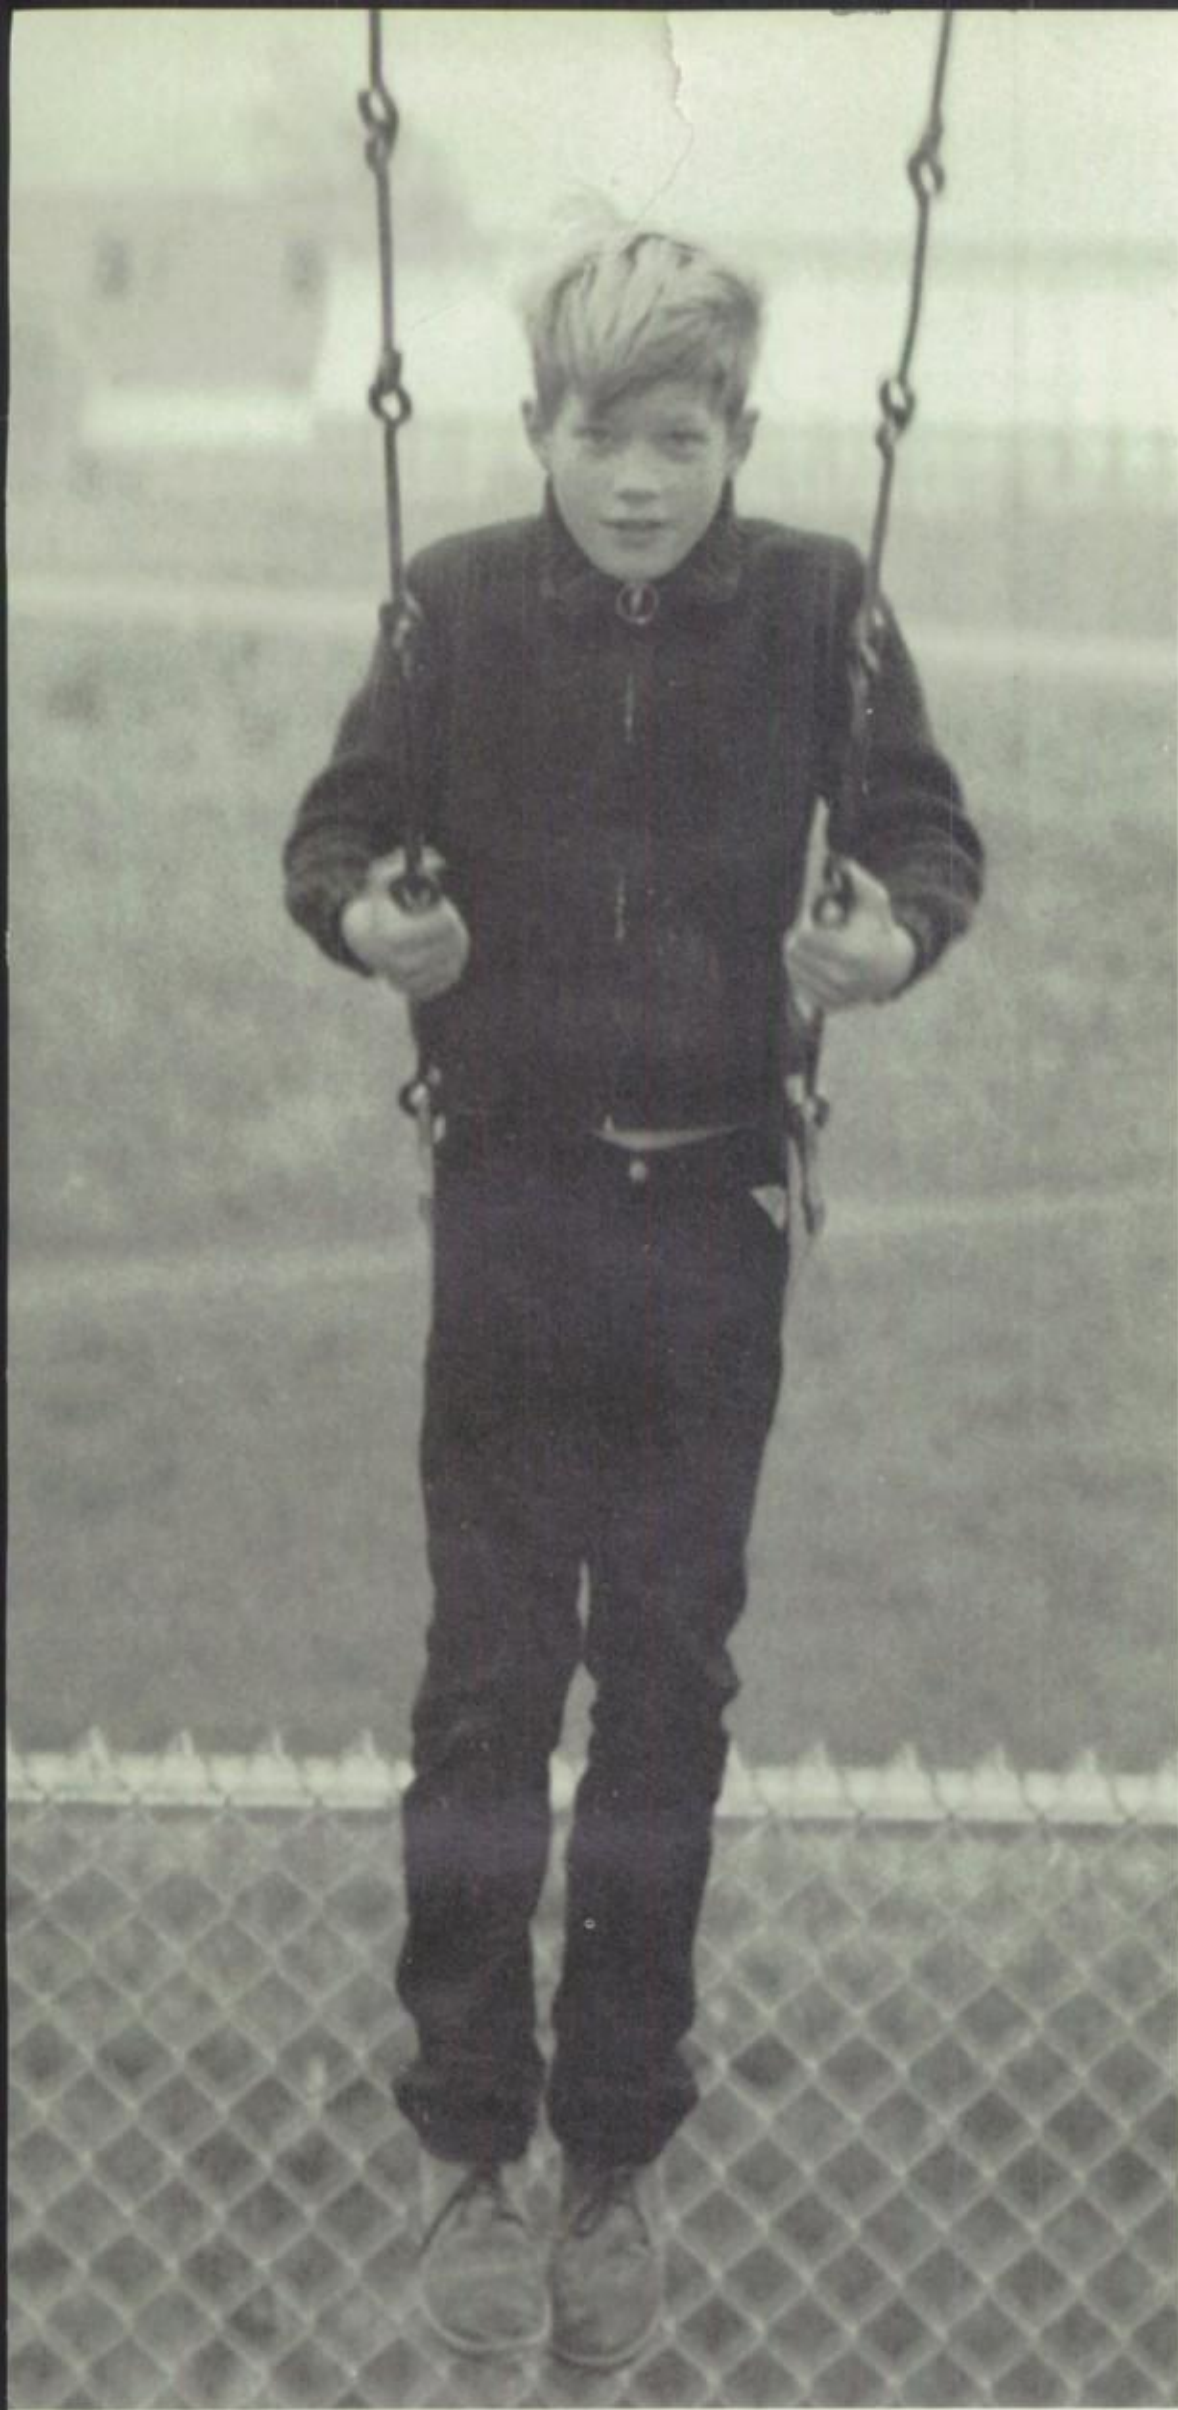

Ind. Arts Offers Vocational Training

Major areas of practicality are stressed in the industrial arts program, aimed at an attempt to turn courses away from hobby orientated ideas toward topics of a more vocational and useful nature. These areas include welding, design, blueprint reading and homebuilding.

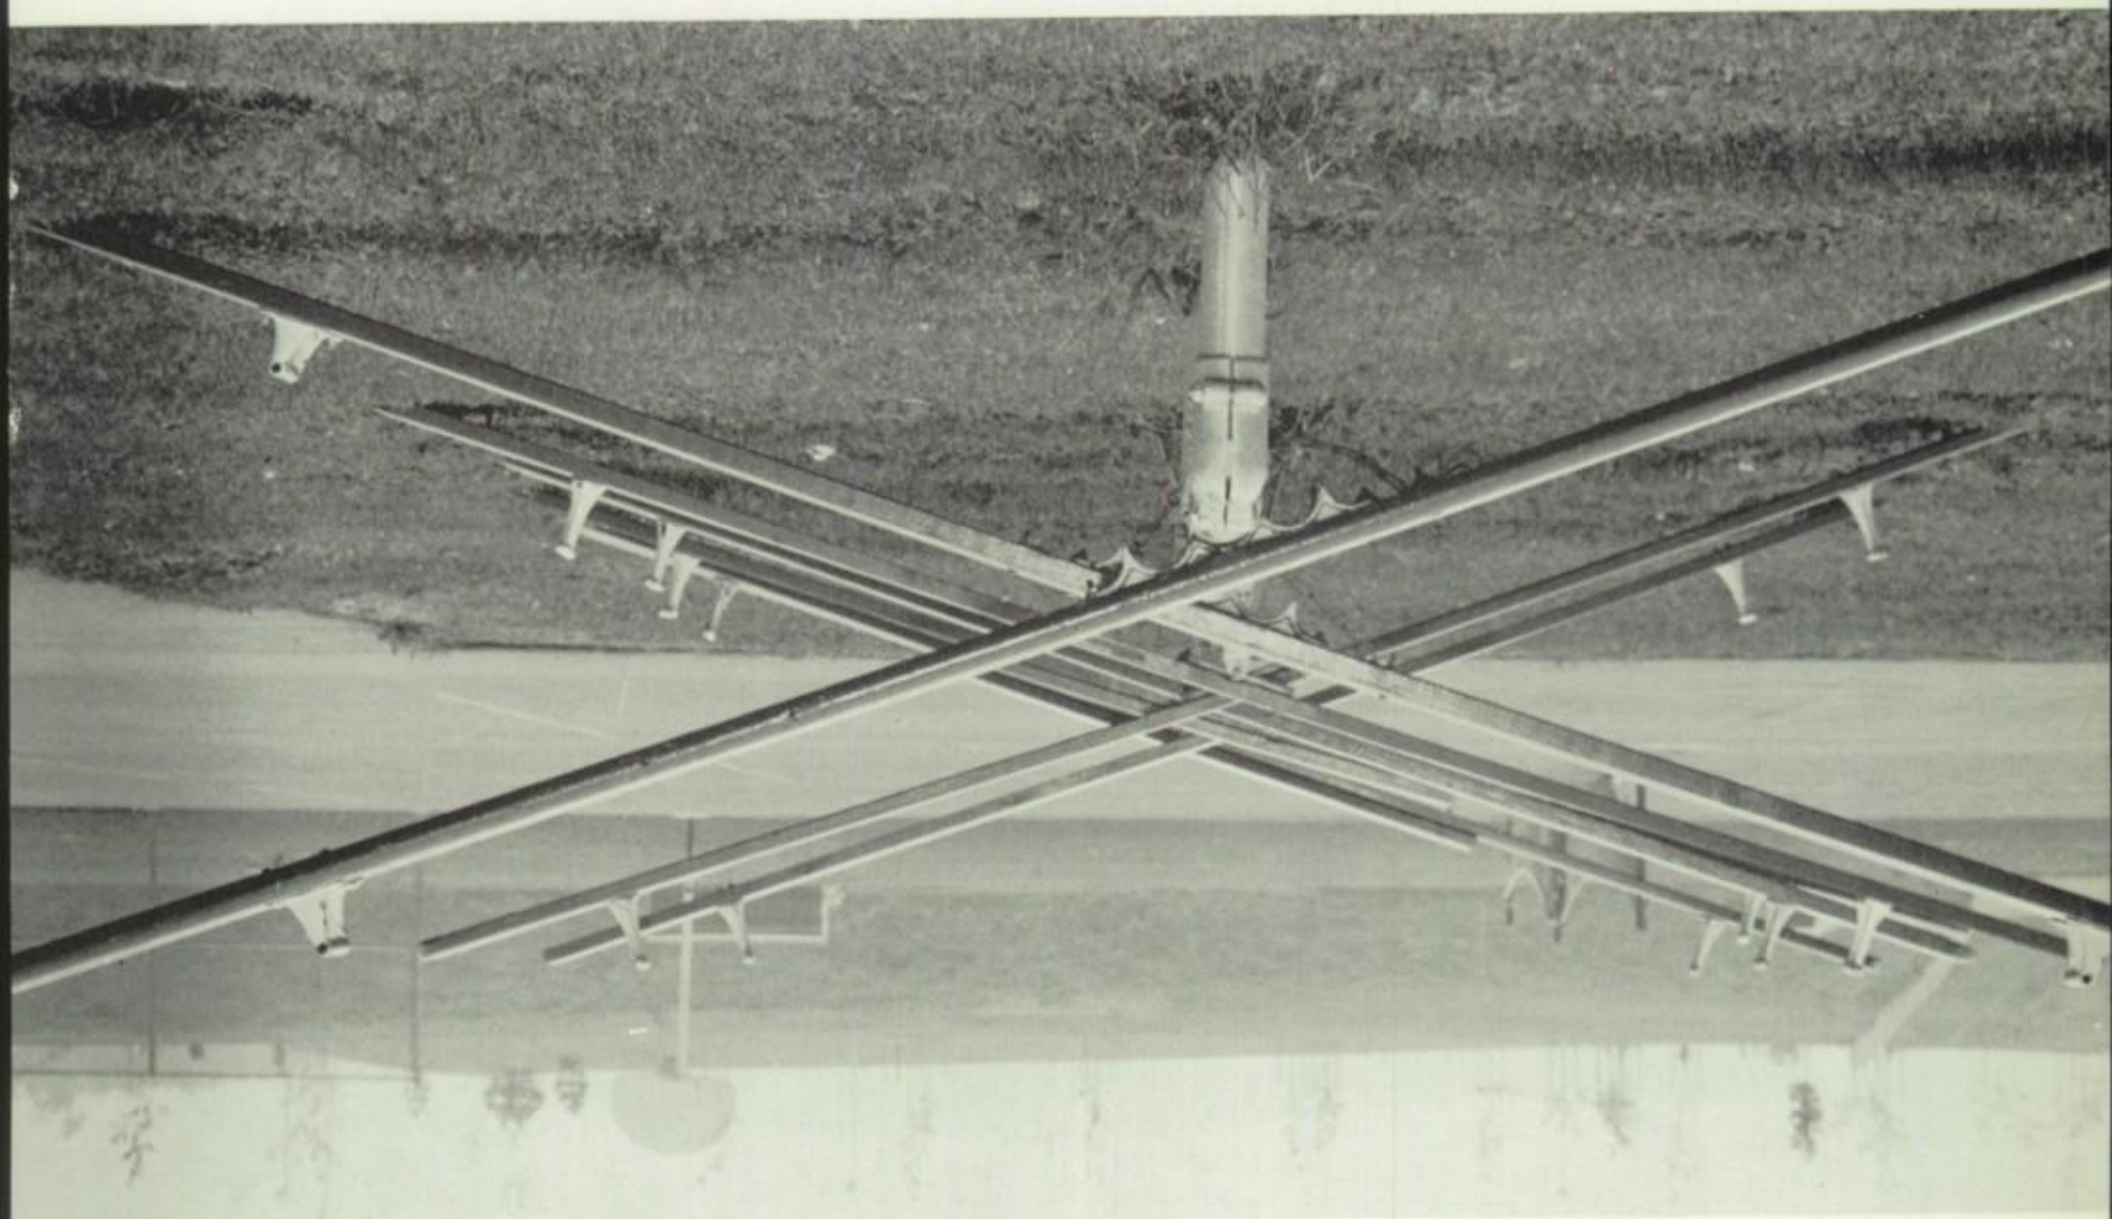

Industrial arts teacher, James Ottowitz, finds the cost of materials and lack of working space his main difficulties. He hopes that the new building will alleviate these problems.

Rick Golley overhauls a small engine.

Elementary

Elem. Occupies Building

While the high school prepares for an important move, the elementary faces the exciting prospect of having the whole building to themselves. The elementary will use more rooms; some of them will be enlarged and the blackboards will be lowered. All classes will eat in the cafeteria, and the overcrowded elementary library will give way to the high school library.
